SEMINAR FACULTY

FEATURED SPEAKERS - SCIENTIFIC EXPERTS

Dr. Jimmie L. Valentine, B.S., M.S., Ph.D. of Ocean Springs, Mississippi is a retired Professor of Pediatrics, Pharmacology, and Myeloma Research from the University of Arkansas College of Medicine and now serves as a Consultant in Medical Pharmacology and Toxicology. Dr. Valentine was a pioneer in utilizing gas and liquid chromatography for analysis of human physiological fluids and tissues. Dr. Valentine has published 59 articles in peer-reviewed scientific and medical literature, 12 monographs in forensic newsletters, 11 chapters in books and is co-author of 3 books. He has presented many talks on the correlation of drug use and behavioral effects in relationship to levels determined in physiological fluids both in living and post-mortem situations. Dr. Valentine has testified in numerous civil and criminal trials and administrative hearings concerning drug findings and has been qualified as an expert witness in 14 different states as well as Federal courts.

Janine Arvizu of Tijeras NM, is a chemist and Certified Quality Auditor. She managed an analytical laboratory for the Department of Energy and audited laboratories for the US Navy. After reading the Inspector General report on the FBI laboratory and meeting Fred Whitehurst, she turned her attention to the lack of quality in the forensic industry. She conducts data quality assessments of forensic results, and has testified in state, federal, military, and international courts -and before a horse racing commission!

Mary Catherine McMurray, a Forensic Breath Test Expert out of Blue Mounds WI, started as a chemist in the WI breath alcohol program in 1986 and learned that "hiding the salami" and avoiding direct answers that would hurt the State's case is part and parcel of being a State's Expert. When ordered by the breath alcohol program to answer tough questions about instrumental issues with "no instrumentation is infallible" she knew she had to get out from under the State's thumb and spread the word that not all breath alcohol tests are reliable. Mary has been working with the defense bar since 1995 and has qualified in courts in 18 states, 3 provinces of Canada and is on the Military's list of approved experts.

Dr. Fran M. Gengo, Pharm.D., FCP, is a clinical pharmacologist. He is an Associate Professor of Neurology and Pharmacy at the University at Buffalo. His clinical practice is at the Dent Neurologic Institute where he sees patients as part of the Stroke, Dementia, Epilepsy and Substance Abuse Clinics. Dr. Alfred E. Staubus, Pharm.D., Ph.D., is an emeritus faculty member of The OSU College of Pharmacy and provides consulting and expert testimony in civil and criminal cases in the area of forensic toxicology. He has specialized training in the use of the Intoxilyzer 5000, BAC DataMaster, Intoxilyzer 8000, Intoximeters EC/IR II BAT Training Course and the Intoximeters EC/IR II.

Dr. Andreas Stoiz has a Ph.D. in Physics (summa cum laude) and is an Associate Professor at the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at Michigan State University. With over 15 years of experience in nuclear physics, including statistical data analysis and metrology, he has provided expert testimony for OWI and OWID cases in Michigan and other states. He is the co-author of the 2012 chapter on DUI Mathematics in the "Inside the Minds: Understanding DUI scientific evidence" series.

Mike Nichols of East Lansing Michigan spoke at the seminar last year about "Uncertainty in Scientific Testing." He followed up to his game-changing "uncertainty" success with another win that sent shockwaves through Michigan's courts: a judge ruled that the Michigan State Police did not reliably analyze THC in human blood even though the report claimed the concentration was 11 ng/mL.
